CRAIC FACTS

Why do so many US Irish Pubs have the same name? The tradition of Irish pubs including surnames can be traced back to, well, Ireland. A 1872 law required all pubs to display the owner's name above the door. Most common names are Murphy and Paddy.

WHAT'S THE CRAIC?

Craic or "crack" is a term for news, gossip, gossip, fun, entertainment, and enjoyable conversation. So, stop into McNally's for a bit O' the Craic!
